The Graduates, a new beach comedy, is an Indie film that's been getting some buzz at various film festivals.

The soundtrack, made up of primarily Indie bands, has a beach/summer time feel to it. Download it for free with our code ("Grotto") and see for yourself. Besides, it's free, so why not?

About The Graduates:

The Graduates is a hysterical, award-winning comedy about a group of friends who head to the beach without a care in the world, looking for one last fling before they go off to college. Through surprising and hilarious events, the guys find themselves learning that there's a little more to life than having a good time. Packed with laughs, The Graduates is a surprisingly smart and witty look at what it really means to grow up and be a friend. The film features Robin Williams' son Zak and a bunch of other beautiful young actors and actresses.

The main idea behind giving away the soundtrack is that in hopes you'll like it and want to go out and see the movie. A great idea to promote a movie, and one even suggested by the famous Mark Cuban.
