

College Parking Problems

Parking Problems at College

Parking is a pain at college.

Too many cars, not enough parking spots.

This is why the cost of parking can be so high, by figuring there will be fewer students willing to pay universities outrageous parking fees.

Not only that, but issuing parking tickets is a business of its own, with the amount of money it brings the college.

Check out this funny but true photo of one student's way of trying to put a stop to it.